Child and Family Behavioral Health Treatment Service

Also Known as MaineCare Section 65M Services

Transition from Existing Service to This New Service

This part of the guide is for children and families who already receive In-Home or Child and Family Community Support (65 H or G services). It is also for children currently on the waiting list for these services.

Children Currently Receiving In-Home or Child and Family Community Support (65 H or G services) Who Will Continue with the Same Provider:

- At the scheduled 90- day review a decision will be made about the need to continue services.
- If services need to continue the provider will complete a transition form and submit it to central enrollment.
- Service with the In-Home or Child and Family Community Support (65 H or G services) agency can continue until the transition form is submitted or up to the end of the 90-day transition phase of the new service (65 M).

Children Currently Receiving In-Home or Child and Family Community Support (65 H or G services) Who Will Need to Change to a Different Provider:

- If service needs to continue past the 90-day review, the case manger will submit a referral packet to central enrollment.
- If the child is matched to a provider, they will be transitioned to the new service.
- The current provider can continue providing In-Home or Child and Family Community Support (65 H or G) services until the end of the 90-day transition period if a match is not made.
- If at the 90-day date, another agency has not been able to pickup the family, the old provider can request an extension of up to 90 days.

Children Currently on the Waiting List for 65 H:

- If the child and family needs to receive the new service, then:
- The child will be on the wait list in their current spot and will be assigned to an agency as soon as there is an opening available.

Children Currently on the Waiting List for Child and Family Community Support (65 G) Services:

- If the family wants the new service (65M), the case manager or the 65 G provider will need to submit the transition form indicating the date of the initial referral
- The child will be placed on the wait list
- The number of days waiting will include the number of days they have already waited for the Child and Family Community Support (65 G) Services.
- The child will be on the wait list and will be assigned to an agency as soon as there is an opening available.
